

Leadership for the Government Executive

Education and Innovation for Government Transformation

SACRAMENTO STATE
COLLEGE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Leadership for the Government Executive

Education and Innovation for Government Transformation

Overview

The next generation of successful California government leaders will be those who know how to embrace and implement positive government transformation and build cross-functional and interagency relationships. These relationships will be key building blocks for our future leaders. This program will expand the practical application of the skills required to be successful in today's changing business climate. Leaders will be challenged to develop and adopt statewide best practices, create interagency solutions, and develop relationships to implement and sustain government transformation efforts.

Audience

The ideal learning environment will consist of equal representation of executives and upper-level managers in business and information technology areas.

Executives and upper-level management employees are encouraged to apply through the nomination process.

SACRAMENTO STATE
COLLEGE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Curriculum

The partnerships developed through this program provide a unique learning opportunity. The following sessions are scheduled one day a month, sequentially, for seven months:

- Set the Vision and Goals
- Build a Services Culture Through Effective Leadership
- Embrace Change and Overcome Obstacles
- Coach and Mentor for Individual Development
- Sustain Change Through Teamwork and Community
- Communicate Strategies for Long Term Success
- Measure and Evaluate Change Efforts

Apply Now

Visit www.cce.csus.edu/leadershipforgov or contact Bonnie Thompson at 916-278-4551.

Application deadline: October 20, 2006.

Classes begin in November of 2006.

Sponsors

The College of Continuing Education at Sacramento State acknowledges the following individuals for their vision, support and collaboration in building this program:

Will Bush, Undersecretary, State and Consumer Services Agency

J. Clark Kelso, Chief Information Officer, State of California

David A. Gilb, Director, Department of Personnel Administration